FROM The Director

As we wrap up in the Spring semester, Trio diligently works to provide services, support and provide updates for you through our transition to distance learning. Trio encourages you to remain safe, positive and productive through COVID 19. We support your efforts in continuing your education and exploring ways to develop new skills or enhance your talents during quarantine. Some of us have learned how to cook new recipes, adopted a pet, made fun TIK -TOK videos, and used the time to stay healthy through online workout apps. Trio SSS will provide fun and innovative ways to remain in contact and communicate to best serve any of your needs.

African American Museum in Dallas

TRIO Student Support Services celebrate Black History Month with a visit to the African American Museum in Dallas, TX on February 27, 2020. The African American Museum was founded in 1974 as a part of the Special Collections at Bishop College, a historically black college that closed in 1988. The Museum has operated independently since 1979.

Read Across America

Student Support Services visit three local elementary schools: Queensbough Elementary, Midway Elementary, and Warner Park Elementary to celebrate Dr. Seuss birthday. Read Across America Day is a celebration of the joys of literacy and an important reminder that we must make every effort to ensure that our Nation's children receive the necessary education in reading and writing to cultivate the skills they need to pursue their American Dream.

Career Development

TRIO Student Support Services students studying communication had an opportunity to visit a local television station to get more information about their major. With a communication degree students will learn to look at the media critically, to write and speak concisely and effectively, as well as learn about new forces shaping human communication such as digital media and global communications.
